

General Assumption

Approaches

Two methodological approaches seek to determine if individual loci (or genomic regions are):

- Outliers: Structure deviates significantly from background genetic structure.
- Environmental Correlates: Frequency covaries with AT-site ecological/environmental conditions.