

Final Thoughts

Many of the Landscape Genetic analytical approaches we use rely upon estimation of pair-wise distances or structure statistics.

- Sampling should be designed to minimize variance in parameters.
- Corrections (such as $F_{ST} / (1 - F_{ST})$ for structure) are helpful for creating more appropriate models.
- Structure responds slowly to perturbations.

